THE SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

The Plans and Specifications are Ready.

Dr. H. E. Beach, chairman of the sewerage committee, is in receipt of a letter from R. L. Hartford, of Chattanooga, in regard to the plans and specifications for the Clarksville sewerage system. The letter says the plans are ready, but for the sake of being doubly sure they will be gone over carefully a second time to see if any improvement can be made. The letter lays particular stress upon efficiency and economy, and says that the best of each should be secured in making Clarksville's system of sewerage. The system is so designed that every foot of ground in Major Thomas' survey will be thoroughly drained. Mr. Hartford thinks the drainage of the city is a simple problem when economy and efficiency are combined, and he says he has given much time and study to the matter. The plan can be improved somewhat, so the gentleman says, by running through a little private property, a diagram of which he has furnished Dr. Beach.

That Clarksville needs a good and complete sewerage system no one will deny. The recent heavy rains have demonstrated that fact thoroughly. Parts of the city have suffered considerable inconvenience by water standing on the ground, and if a complete sewerage system is obtained it will put a stop to this.

Chicken Thief Caught.

About three o'clock this morning Pat Giney saw a negro coming up the hill on First street with a grass sack on his shoulders, which looked so suspicious that the officer halted him. When asked what he had in the sack the negro remarked that it was some clothing that he was taking to his wife. The policeman thought this kind of a story too thin and told the negro to come and go to the station house and make a report of himself. He went on without any trouble but when Giney went to unlock the station-house door the negro wheeled and started up Strawberry alley at a full head of speed. The officer threw his club at him and struck him on the head, making him drop the sack, when out rolled four dead chickens. The negro got clear away for the time being, but was caught this morning in Skufftown by Sheriff Staton and Officer Giney. He gave his name as Bob Short, which, however, is an alias, his name being Dave Robb, and he is a professional chicken thief. He is now in jail and the chickens are at the station house awaiting an owner.

Family Reunion.

The marriage of L. G. Munford, of Fort Worth, Texas, to Miss Annie Plotts, of Dallas, and Mr. Munford's visit with his bride to his childhood's home, was the occasion of a reunion of the family of his mother, Mrs. Amanda G. Munford. There gathered at the Arlington Sunday and yesterday L. G. Munford and wife of Texas; Irving H. Munford of New York; Miss Ella Munford, Ed. S. Munford and Judge A. H. Munford and two children, of this city, all the representatives of her family. This is the first time in a number of years that Mrs. Munford has had all her children with her at once and the occasion is a very happy one to her. The LEAF-CHRONICLE sincerely hopes she may enjoy many more such reunions.

Mental Aberration.

Wallace Embry, of Howell, Ky., went from here to Louisville last week and while in the dry goods house of J. M. Robinson & Co., on Saturday, showed signs of a disordered mind. He went from this house to that of Bamberger, Bloom & Co., and attracted the attention of the salesmen, who found out that he was laboring under a mental aberration and turned him over to the police. His friends at Howell have been notified of his condition.

ANENT THE CONSOLIDATION.

A Strong Combination For Both Advertiser and Subscriber.

It must be admitted that the newspaper business has been greatly overdone in Clarksville for the past year or two, and it has also been evident that there was small profit in the business for so many, and just such an event as has transpired between the Chronicle and the Tobacco Leaf was to be expected sooner or later. It has not only been hard for so many papers to live, but while doing little for themselves they have been able to do but little comparatively for the public, by reason of their weakness and inability to employ the best means for sending out large and strong circulations. Moreover, while the competition has cheapened advertising and reduced the rates below a fair compensation, it has proven very costly to advertisers, for the reason that circumstances dictated to business men, the policy of placing their advertising with all alike, which increased the cost 50 to 75 per cent. with no better service than one good, strong journal ought to afford.

The business men of the city will find that the consolidation of the two oldest and strongest papers in the city will afford them better facilities at a lower rate for advertising than they did as separate journals.

The union gives the TOBACCO LEAF-CHRONICLE the largest circulation sent out of Clarksville. The Chronicle has always maintained the prestige on the south side of Cumberland river, over all the papers in the city, while the LEAF has held the lion's share on the north side, both having the best class of readers in the country, and there will be no loss of readers by the consolidation, as is generally the case, by reason of many readers being subscribers to both.

The work of going over the two subscription lists of the weekly Chronicle and SEMI-WEEKLY LEAF and comparing them by postoffice has been accomplished, except for the carrier's lists, and all conflicting names stricken out of one list. Much to our surprise even, only 162 names on the Weekly Chronicle list were found duplicated on the LEAF list, and in this number were about twenty or twenty-five exchanges—less than 5 per cent. of the two lists duplicated. On the carriers' list the proportion will be much larger, though the Daily has superseded the weekly Chronicle there, and the loss to the circulation in the city of the combined papers will not be near so great as it would have been before the daily was started.

We hope to still further strengthen the combination by marked improvements in the paper and to add largely to the circulation of both the daily and semi-weekly.

The paper will be conducted strictly on business principles, and no means or effort will be spared to make it useful and acceptable to all readers.

Advertisers who have heretofore patronized both papers will reach the same readers that both papers furnished, weekly or semi-weekly, as they choose, for less money than the two heretofore cost.

It will require a little time to get everything well organized and we beg indulgence until that is done, to fulfill every expectation.

PORT ROYAL.

An Interesting Letter From One of the Oldest Towns in the State.

To the Tobacco Leaf-Chronicle.

Mrs. Hancock (nee Drake) died Sunday, the 21 inst., at the home of her mother, in Guthrie.—Mrs. Whorley, of Guthrie, is very ill, also Miss Bettie Taylor, niece of W. F. Taylor, both victims of consumption.—Maurice Mimmis, youngest son of George Mimmis, of First district, cut his foot Sunday morning and the wound was sewed up by Dr. J. C. Marshall.—T. M. Randle took advantage of the few cold days first of last week and filled his ice house with ice two inches thick, but his less fortunate neighbors failed to find any.—The numerous friends of W. T. Ballew, of Guthrie, were rejoiced to learn he had secured the postmastership at that point. Mr. Ballew is a popular gentleman and has both principle and capacity to give entire satisfaction. A literary club has been recently organized at Guthrie with Prof. Harris its competent president. It is rumored that the club will prepare a special program for the opening of the opera house, which will soon be completed.

Mrs. W. T. Barry, of Union City, Tenn., will visit Miss Minnie Dancy in a week or two. Mrs. Barry will be remembered as Miss Etta Moore, an attractive young lady who visited Miss Dancy five or six years ago.

The washing out of the false bridge at Port Royal damaged the builders $75 or $100.

W. D. Cotter suggests as a light Sunday night's supper, popcorn and cold water.

W. W. Darden, T. M. Williams, N. T. Alley and Shine Polk (the latter colored) went rabbit hunting Thursday during the snow and killed over one hundred rabbits. Shine must have failed to get his share of the game, and in consequence thereof gave the whys and wherefores. Mr. Williams, like the balance of his country friends, lost his meat, and thinks a hundred rabbits hung in his coal house to smoke is better than no meat at all.

Wm. Atkins finished delivering his tobacco to Pickering Bros. Wednesday.

Mr. M. T. Keel's mules took fright near Jno. D. Parks' barn and run away Monday, but did no damage.

S. D. Boody, the bridge manager, wishes to know who can solve the following problem: A and B each have a flock of sheep. A gives B, one of his sheep, then they have equal numbers. B gives A, one of his sheep, then A has twice as many as B, how many has each? Who can answer? It's easy.

A Correction.

Editors Tobacco Leaf-Chronicle.

It is evident from the tenor of an editorial paragraph in your issue of the 4th inst., that you have been misinformed in regard to the bridge that is being built across Sulphur Fork Creek at this place. You said the old bridge was washed away in 1865. That is a mistake; but on the contrary it withstood one of the highest rises in May, 1865, known to the oldest inhabitant. In May or June, 1866, the bridge fell of its own weight. A sudden rise of the creek carried it off soon after it fell.

The new bridge will be two or three feet higher than the old one, the pillars having been built that much higher. That part of the work was performed by an experienced workman, and in the most substantial and satisfactory manner.

Before the water reaches the danger line at this point on the creek, the river gets the ascendancy, and then there is no current in that part of the creek spanned by the bridge. It is as dead as a mill-pond. That makes the bridge secure. The drift wood goes in other directions. The bridge will be perfectly secure if placed on the pillars as they now stand.

Sickness Among Children.

It is a cause is undoubtedly to be found in the way they are fed, and the neglect of their medical treatment. Many mothers are strong in their belief of the good state of health of their little ones, and it is only when sickness in a mild or strong form comes upon them that the mother fully realizes the mistake of her over-confidence, and thus unwittingly brings painful suffering to her child and uneasiness and trouble to her own heart. To prevent such a state of affairs give your children Dr. Winchell's Teething; as a curative for diseases common children, it has no equal—a trial of one bottle proves it. Sickness Among Animals.

Animals are very subject to worms, and while such worms exist in them they cannot thrive, the food that should strengthen and nourish the animal is absorbed by the worms; hence, the animal will have a good appetite and still continually grow poor. To obviate this difficulty, give them frequent doses of Uncle Sam's Condition Powder. It is an excellent preventive of disease among them, and as a positive cure for sickness common to animals it has no equal. It is guaranteed.
